

A sleepy village nestling in a mountain protected valley. The ancient Castle of Alaró was the scene of some of the most decisive battles during the Moorish invasion. Nowadays, visitors to this area are captivated by its peace, beauty and almost mystical atmosphere.

On the slopes of Mount Galatzó, where wooded hills sweep down to the sea, this picturesque little village abounds with character. Old houses are secreted away in narrow lanes leading into the quiet countryside. Little shops and restaurants cluster around the main street.

Hotel S'Olivaret ♦ ♦ ♦ ♦ Rural

This magnificent 15th century estate property has been carefully transformed into a character hotel. It is located three kilometres from Alaró and stands at the edge of a hillside facing the mountains.

The estate was formerly famous for its production of olive oil and received a Gold Medal at the 1888 Barcelona Exhibition. Relics of the old machinery still remain within the house and contrast with the superb antiques which have been treasured through many generations. Massive stone walls and raftered ceilings are in harmony with the tiled floors.

Attractive and individually furnished bedrooms replete with air-conditioning, cable television, minibar and Internet connection. Lounge and bar. The Restaurant Es Lledoner offers modern Mediterranean cuisine inspired by traditional Mallorcan cooking. Lovely swimming pool, sun terraces. Indoor pool, sauna and jacuzzi. Paddle tennis court.
